The new nominees are expected to be posted to countries with which Nigeria maintains excellent and strategic bilateral relations, such as China, India, South Korea, Canada, Mexico, the United Arab Emirates, Qatar, South Africa, Kenya, and to Permanent Missions such as the United Nations, UNESCO, and the African Union. All the nominees will know their diplomatic assignments after their confirmation by the Senate.

Last week, President Tinubu sent three ambassadorial nominees for screening and confirmation. The nominees were Ambassador Ayodele Oke (Oyo), Ambassador Amin Mohammed Dalhatu (Jigawa), and Retired Colonel Lateef Kayode Are (Ogun). All three are in the pot for posting to the UK, USA, or France after their confirmation.

President Bola Ahmed Tinubu said more nominees for ambassadorial positions will be announced soon.

Governor Bassey Otu Launches Free Bus Service for Calabar Festival

As part of ongoing efforts to cushion the effects of economic hardship and make life more comfortable for residents and visitors during this festive season of increased movement across the state, the Cross River State Governor, Senator Bassey Otu, has launched a free bus service themed "Xmas Free Transport Service."

Performing the ceremony on behalf of the Governor, the Deputy Governor, Rt. Hon. Peter Odey, noted that it has become a tradition for Governor Otu to roll out free bus services during festive periods, including Easter, to reduce transportation costs and promote unity among residents—an effort aligned with his People First mantra and the Carnival Calabar theme, "Traces of Time."

He further explained that the service will operate throughout the duration of the Calabar Festival, covering major streets in Calabar Municipality and extending to neighbouring towns and zones, with routes such as Watt Market to Scanobo and Watt Market to Atimbo, among others. Inter-Local Government routes will include Calabar to Ugep, Calabar to Ikom, Calabar to Abi, Calabar to Obudu, Calabar to Ogoja, as well as a ferry service from Calabar to Creek Town, Odukpani.

He encouraged residents and visitors to take advantage of this gesture while continuing to support and pray for the administration of Governor Bassey Otu and President Bola Ahmed Tinubu.

The event had in attendance the Commissioner for Finance, Dr. Michael Odere; the Deputy Chief of Staff to the Governor, Mr.

Boniface Okache; and the Special Adviser to the Governor on Special Duties, Chief Ekpenyong Akiba, Esq., among others.

Gov Otu Honours Predecessors, Lights Up Christmas Tree to Usher in Yuletide Season

Cross River State Governor, Senator Bassey Otu, on Sunday night honoured his predecessors as he switched on the 2025 Christmas tree and festive lights at the Calabar Cenotaph, signalling the start of the Christmas season and a renewed spirit of unity and continuity in governance.

Addressing a colourful gathering of residents, artistes and dignitaries, Governor Otu said the event was not just about bright lights but about celebrating the leadership legacies that shaped the modern Cross River State.

He praised former Governor Clement Ebri as "the father of modern Cross River," commending his achievements in agriculture, education, health and infrastructure.

@photographbydw

He also lauded Donald Duke for “redefining Cross River as Nigeria’s tourism capital,” with innovations such as the transformation of Obudu Ranch, creation of Cross River University of Technology (CRUTECH) and the birth of Carnival Calabar.

The governor further celebrated Senator Liyel Imoke for his “administrative excellence” and deep reforms in education, rural development and social welfare, while acknowledging Senator Ben Ayade for his industrialisation drive, innovation and political courage in repositioning the state at the national level.

“As we illuminate this city, we celebrate their visions and commit to building on them,” Otu said. “My team and I will continue to grow Cross River through human capital development, industrialisation, rural transformation and tourism.”

He urged citizens to embrace the season with hope: “May our faith shine as a beacon of renewal and prosperity.”

Former Governor Clement Ebri

thanked Otu for sustaining a culture of honour, describing the gesture as uplifting.

Donald Duke, reflecting on the 20-year journey of Carnival Calabar, said the festival has remained a unifying symbol. "The beauty is that it brings all our peoples, diverse as we are, into one unique event where we celebrate ourselves," he said.

Senator Liyel Imoke described the gathering as "heartwarming and nostalgic," commending Otu for his rare commitment to continuity. "It is uncommon for a governor to look back, identify what is good and build on it. That spirit keeps institutions alive," Imoke noted.

Former Governor Ben Ayade also applauded Otu for bringing all leaders together irrespective of political divides. "Today is about acknowledging that Sweet Prince Bassey Otu has shown the wisdom to unite us all, beyond party lines," he said.

Odey Attends Thanksgiving Mass in Iyamoyong, Reaffirms Government's Commitment to Security

Cross River State Deputy Governor, Rt. Hon. Peter Odey, on Sunday joined the St. Patrick Catholic Parish, Iyamoyong, Obubra Local Government Area, for its annual thanksgiving mass.

Addressing the congregation, the Deputy Governor expressed the state government's deep concern over the security situation along the Ikom–Obubra axis. He assured worshippers that the administration of Governor Bassey Otu remains fully committed to restoring peace and guaranteeing the safety of residents.

Odey highlighted the state's renewed focus on revamping tertiary education, noting that the formerly moribund College of Agriculture in Obubra will soon resume academic activities. He disclosed that plans are underway to upgrade the institution into a degree-awarding college, stressing that no meaningful development can thrive without peace. He therefore urged residents to embrace unity and support the government's efforts to attract more development to the area.

Reflecting on his earlier visit to the parish during his tenure in the State House of Assembly, the Deputy Governor commended parishioners for their unwavering support toward the building of God's house, assuring them that their sacrifices and contributions would not go unrewarded.

Odey further

reiterated the state government's commitment to infrastructure development, stating that road construction and other projects are ongoing across Cross River State. He assured the people of Obubra that they would not be left out, noting the recent formal flag-off of the Chief John Okpa Road, and added that the government will deliver more developmental projects in the coming months, including those already underway.

Delivering a homily themed "Harvest of Expansion," Rev. Fr. Francis Eworo reminded the faithful of the three ways Christ comes to His people-through His birth at Christmas, through His word, and on the final day. He encouraged worshippers to prepare spiritually for the season and remain steadfast in their faith.

In his goodwill message, the member representing Etung/Obubra Federal Constituency, Rt. Hon. Mike Etaba, commended the state government for prioritizing welfare and security. He praised the administration's efforts toward resolving the lingering land dispute between communities in Ikom and Obubra. He also applauded the Obubra Council Chairman, Hon. Kingsley Arikpo, for his dedication to peacebuilding, and urged stakeholders to embrace lasting peace.

The thanksgiving mass was attended by top government officials, including the Deputy Speaker of the Cross River State House of Assembly, Rt. Hon. Sylvester Agabi, Chairman of Obubra LGA, Hon. Kingsley Arikpo, his Bekwarra counterpart, Hon. Egbung Odama, and the member representing Ogoja State Constituency, Hon. Thomas Aruku, among others.

The event featured special prayers for the state and the nation, as well as donations toward the completion of the parish building.

Gov. Otu Assures Adequate Supply of ARVs for HIV/AIDS Patients, as C'River Commemorate World AIDS Day

By Nakanda Iyadim

The Cross River State Government has assured residents living with HIV/AIDS of an adequate supply of antiretroviral drugs (ARVs).

Governor Bassey Edet Otu, represented by the Speaker of the State Assembly, Rt. Hon. Elvert

Otu emphasized, "I want to inform those living with this disease that, in line with our 'people first' mantra, it's no longer a death sentence. Arrangements have been made to supply all government facilities across the 18 Local Government Areas with your drugs and other essential commodities."

The Governor highlighted plans for local production of necessary drugs and the establishment of a drug and health commodities management agency to ensure sustainable healthcare services.

In his remarks, Commissioner for Health, Dr. Henry Ayuk, expressed concern over the persistent prevalence rate since 2018 and

He further noted that efforts are underway to ensure universal health coverage and free healthcare for those affected.

pledged funding for awareness campaigns in high-risk areas.

Dr. Gloria Archibong, Acting State Coordinator of the World Health Organization (WHO), urged for a sustainable, locally-led HIV response through increased domestic investment. She stressed the importance of prioritizing services for vulnerable populations and tackling stigma and discrimination.

Also speaking, Mr. Lanre Alabi, Monitoring and Evaluation Analyst at UNFPA, reiterated the global community's commitment to achieving an AIDS-free future.

Earlier in his Dr. Charles Iwara, Director General of the Cross River Agency for the Control of AIDS, reported successful awareness campaigns and screenings, highlighting the need for continued efforts to combat new infections.

He also announced a proactive initiative engaging youth in HIV/AIDS prevention efforts.

"As World AIDS Day is observed, it is crucial to remember the importance of collective action to combat HIV/AIDS in Cross River State.

"We must remain committed to ensuring access to healthcare and support for all, working towards an AIDS-free future with zero infections by 2030," the DG added.

The rally included a three-kilometer walk to raise awareness about HIV and the need for community engagement.

To commemorate this year's World AIDS Day, several activities were held, including a Jumaat service at Ikot Ansa Mosque and an interdenominational church service at Jubilee Nations International Churches, 55 Webber, Calabar, led by the DG.

Clerics at both worship centers prayed for sustained efforts to educate and sensitize the public on the dangers of contracting the disease, while urging for adequate funding for response activities.

Within the week, a marathon race was held for adolescents in secondary schools, with schools from Bakassi Local Government Area emerging victorious, scooping prizes in both the male and female categories of the competition, outperforming their counterparts from Akpabuyo and Calabar South local government areas.

World AIDS Day is celebrated each year on December 1 to promote awareness of HIV and AIDS, show solidarity with affected communities, and support individuals living with the virus. This year marks the 30th anniversary of the event, celebrated worldwide under the theme "Overcoming Disruption, Transforming the AIDS Response."

This year's theme emphasizes the need to address challenges and disruptions in the fight against HIV/AIDS, such as funding gaps, stigma, and health system weaknesses. It highlights the importance of transforming the HIV/AIDS response by strengthening health systems, promoting community engagement, and leveraging locally based innovation to improve services.

It calls for a sustained and collective effort to prioritize the needs of people living with HIV/AIDS and ensure access to quality healthcare and support services, with the ultimate goal of building a more resilient and effective response that leaves no one behind with our resources.

UNICAL Investiture: Vice Chancellor Prof Offiong Commits to Crackdown on Indiscipline, Reopen Access Roads as He Sets 12 Point Vision for the Institution

The University of Calabar entered a new phase today as Prof Offiong E Offiong assumed office as the twelfth Vice Chancellor at a ceremony in the International Conference Centre. His remarks outlined an administration he described as firm, fair, and determined to strengthen the university's standing.

Prof Offiong thanked President Bola Tinubu, Governor Bassey Otu, and the Governor's wife for creating conditions that support the work of the institution. He also recognised his family, friends, and supporters for their steady encouragement. He noted that the occasion was not about celebrating one person, but about advancing the institution.

He promised to build on the achievements of past Vice Chancellors and address long standing concerns.

These include the condition of staff quarters, the reopening of access roads that were closed, and the improvement of the university's demonstration secondary schools. He encouraged staff and students to aim for strong academic performance and to embrace innovation across their fields.

Prof Offiong said the university would work to harness its academic strength for the benefit of students and the wider community. He described the new administration as one that intends to pursue its goals with resolve and serve as a source of hope for young people seeking sound education.

He announced a twelve point vision to guide his tenure. The plan covers academic excellence, stronger research activity, improved student welfare through a Vice Chancellor's scholarship, expansion of the work study programme, human capital development, revenue growth, transparent governance, and the strengthening of the ICT and quality assurance system.

He also introduced a new community outreach and engagement initiative to rebuild trust with the surrounding community. On a broader scale, he pledged to deepen the university's international partnerships to widen opportunities for staff and students.

Environmental protection, he said, will receive special attention. Green areas will be preserved and improper disposal of waste will attract consequences. Security of lives and property remains a priority.

Prof Offiong pledged to lead with integrity and clarity. He stated fraudulent NYSC mobilisation.

He encouraged students to make meaningful use of their time and said the university would provide an atmosphere that supports learning. He acknowledged that the institution has faced negative publicity in recent years and promised deliberate action to correct public perception.

He concluded by saying the work ahead is considerable and cannot be carried out by the management team alone. He invited individuals of goodwill who share a clear vision to join in moving the university forward.

that indiscipline would not be tolerated and described himself as a servant leader.

He said the administration would confront problems such as admission racketeering and

The ceremony drew a wide audience. Present were the Chairman of the UNICAL Governing Council and members of the council, the immediate past Vice Chancellor

Prof Florence Obi, the Vice Chancellor of the University of Cross River State, Prof Francisca Bassey, Prof Anthony Owan

Enoh, several former Vice Chancellors, and other distinguished guests.

Enter The Season Of Advent With Forgiveness, Charity -Rev. Fr. Bassey

By David Akate

Bassey who is the Administrator of the St Anthony of Padua Quasi Parish, Basin Satellite Town, Calabar said that Christians have begun the preparation towards the birthday of Jesus Christ marked as Christmas pointing out that the basic requirement is a clean heart devoid of all evils.

The Priest who was speaking during a sermon demanded for self examination in order to identify and expunge negative tendencies such as hatred, adultery, backbiting, fornication,

As we experience the season of Advent in the liturgical calendar, we must abide by the virtue of charity, forgiveness and total dedication to the tenet as contained in the Bible , says Rev Fr Emmanuel Bassey.

Rev Fr Emmanuel

wickedness, envy and other vices.

According to him Advent is a period of sober reflection of one's spiritual status and the ability to muster courage to pragmatically denounce all evil ways and the Biblical injunctions.

He advised families to deliberately create environments for harmony and synergize in all things for the purpose of peaceful coexistence.
