Armed Forces Day: Gov Otu Reaffirms Support for Veterans, Families

Cross River State governor, Senator Bassey Otu, has reaffirmed his administration's commitment to the welfare of military veterans, widows and families of fallen heroes, as he joined officers, veterans and stakeholders at the 2026 Armed Forces

Celebration and Remembrance Day held at the Eleven Eleven Millennium Park, remembrance arcade on Thursday in Calabar.

Represented by his Deputy, Dr. Peter Odey, Governor Otu described the event as a solemn reminder of the supreme sacrifices made by members of the Armed Forces to keep Nigeria united and peaceful.

"The lesson from this ceremony is that we remember our fallen heroes, those who paid the supreme sacrifice for this country to remain one. Many people do not fully understand the sacrifices these people made, most of them with their lives. The fact that we can sleep peacefully in this state is because of the hard work and commitment of our military officers," he said.

He stressed that the state government remains resolute in its support for the Armed Forces and their families, noting that the administration recognises their invaluable contributions to national and state security.

Responding to questions on the welfare of widows of fallen heroes, the Deputy Governor assured that the Otu administration has deliberately included them in government programmes and interventions.

"All the widows are being carried along in our programmes. Even before this event, we had met with them. The Commissioner for Social Welfare has been mandated to ensure that they are included in everything that we do,” he stated.

Earlier, the State Chairman of the Nigerian Legion, Cross River State

Command, Comrade Daniel Ojugbo, described the ceremony as a mark of honour for fallen heroes and a moment of reflection on the challenges faced by veterans and their families.

He listed some of the challenges to include delayed welfare benefits, poor access to medical care for aged and bedridden veterans, and the plight of widows and orphans, many of whom remain unemployed despite completing higher education.

Despite these challenges, Ojugbo commended Governor Bassey Otu for his supportive disposition, noting that the current administration has shown genuine concern for the Legion and its members. “With the look of things, the government is trying for us, and we appreciate the support we have received so far," he said.

Also speaking at the event, the Coordinator of Military Widows in the state, Mrs. Miriam Orok, expressed gratitude to the governor for what she described as a marked improvement in the treatment and inclusion of widows under his administration.

"Since the coming of Governor

Bassey Otu, things are different, things are really different. He has been carrying us along, and we are very grateful," she said.

Mrs. Orok also appreciated the First Lady of the state for her compassion, recalling that military widows were honoured and supported with food items and gifts during the last Christmas season.

“Even last

December, the wife of the governor honoured us and gave us many goodies to share with our children.

We pray that Almighty God will bless them and continue to give them the grace to lead our state now and in the future," she added.

The 2026 Armed Forces Celebration and Remembrance Day in Calabar featured prayers, wreath-laying and tributes in honour of fallen heroes, in recognition of their sacrifices and contributions to national peace and security.

PRESS RELEASE

VAT ON BANKING FEES WAS NOT INTRODUCED BY THE NIGERIA TAX ACT

The Nigeria Revenue Service (NRS) wishes to address and correct misleading narratives circulating in sections of the media suggesting that Value Added Tax (VAT) has been newly introduced on banking services, fees, commissions, or electronic money transfers. This claim is categorically incorrect.

VAT has always applied to fees, commissions, and charges for services rendered by banks and other financial institutions under Nigeria's long-established VAT regime. The Nigeria Tax Act did not introduce VAT on banking charges, nor did it impose any new tax obligation on customers in this regard.

The Nigeria Revenue Service urges members of the public and all stakeholders to disregard misinformation and to rely exclusively on official communications for accurate, authoritative, and up-to-date tax information.

The Senator representing Cross River North Senatorial District, Senator Jarigbe Agom Jarigbe, has assured the Nigerian Upstream Petroleum Regulatory Commission (NUPRC) of the National Assembly's continued legislative support as the Commission commenced activities for the 2025 Oil Licensing Round.

Senator Jarigbe gave the assurance during the pre-bid conference organized by the NUPRC for prospective bidders and key stakeholders in the Nigerian oil and gas industry. The conference, which took place in Lagos, focused on clarifying the modalities, expectations, and regulatory framework guiding the licensing exercise for the 50 oil and gas blocks on offer.

The event was hosted by the Chief Executive of NUPRC, Mrs. Oritsemeyiwa

Eyesan, and was attended by the Minister of State for Petroleum Resources (Oil), Senator Heineken Lokpobiri; Chairman, Senate Committee on Upstream, Senator Eteng Williams; Chairman, Senate Committee on Gas, Senator Jarigbe Agom Jarigbe; Chairman, House Committee on Upstream, Hon. Delivering his goodwill message, Senator Jarigbe reaffirmed the National Assembly's commitment to supporting the licensing round, the Federal Government's broader objective of boosting crude oil production and strengthening the energy sector. He noted that the current licensing round is of particular interest to him because of its consideration on the development of Nigeria's vast natural gas resources, expressing optimism that the country's estimated 209 trillion cubic feet (TCF) of gas reserves will now be effectively harnessed.

According to him, the Petroleum Industry Act (PIA), enacted by the National Assembly, has significantly improved investor confidence in Nigeria's oil and gas sector by promoting credibility, transparency, and fairness in industry operations.

C'River NIPR Advocates for National Unity and Ethical Narratives on Armed Forces Remembrance Day

By Nakanda Iyadim

The Cross River State Chapter of the Nigerian Institute of Public Relations (NIPR) has called on Nigerians to look beyond ceremonial observances and recommit to the core values of patriotism and responsible civic conduct.

In their public relations statement issued at the end of their monthly meeting held at the conference room of the Ministry of Information to mark the 2026 Armed Forces Remembrance Day, Thursday, the State Chairman Pastor Augustine Mboso emphasized that the peace and sovereignty enjoyed across the nation are sustained by the "discipline, duty, and unwavering commitment" of the Nigerian Armed Forces.

The Chairman noted that the day serves as a solemn reminder of the ultimate price paid by fallen heroes and stressed that true remembrance requires a collective responsibility to preserve national unity and protect the legacy of those who served.

"A nation that honors its heroes must equally commit to preserving the values they defended," Mboso stated, identifying unity, patriotism, and respect for institutions as the essential pillars of a stable society.

As a body dedicated to reputation management, the NIPR highlighted the critical link between communication and national security.

The Institute urged media practitioners and public officials to be mindful of their rhetoric, asserting that the way the nation discusses its security forces directly impacts social cohesion and public morale.

The NIPR advocated for dignity, accuracy, and sensitivity in discourse regarding national service. Furthermore, the body called for robust policies that provide sustainable, long-term care for veterans and the families of fallen heroes.

Addressing the issue of patriotism they noted remain paramount in the development of the country, the Institute encouraged citizens to champion narratives that bridge divides rather than fuel fragmentation.

In a final tribute to both serving personnel and veterans—whose sacrifices, the Institute noted, are "woven into the fabric of our national story"—the NIPR urged all Nigerians to use the occasion to recommit to building a nation worthy of the sacrifices made on the frontlines.

"Cash Payments to Individuals and Consultants remain Suspended — Tax ID Compliance Is Critical to the Reform," Says CRIRS Boss

By: Achiane Adams

The Executive Chairman of the Cross River Internal Revenue Service (CRIRS), Prince Edwin Okon, PhD, has reiterated the State Government's stance on the suspension of cash payments into Individuals or Consultants accounts while underscoring the growing importance of the Tax Identification Number (Tax ID) under Nigeria's new tax reform framework.

Prince Okon made this disclosure during a Virtual Sensitization Webinar organized by CRIRS recently. The webinar focused on the implications of the new tax reforms for salary earners as well as small, medium, and large-scale business owners.

According to him, taxpayers are encouraged to utilize digital platforms and bank deposits to pay their taxes and levies pending the State's adoption and enactment of the Harmonized Tax Laws.

He added that the possession of a valid Tax ID has become fundamental to effective tax administration and compliance. He urged taxpayers to obtain or update their Tax IDs, noting that official letterheads and bank transactions should carry the Tax ID to enhance proper identification and tracking of tax payments.

"Most importantly, every taxpayer should either get a Tax Identification Number or update the existing one. It is a simple process that only requires the National Identification Number (NIN) for individuals and the Corporate Affairs Commission (CAC) number for corporate entities," he said.

Prince Okon further disclosed that CRIRS has resumed free physical Tax ID registration exercises to accommodate taxpayers who are not tech-savvy, ensuring inclusive participation in the tax system.

The webinar attracted a wide range of participants, including taxpayers, business owners, professionals, and other stakeholders from within and outside Cross River State. The engagement forms part of CRIRS' sustained commitment to tax education and enlightenment, particularly in light of recent reforms aimed at strengthening Nigeria's tax system.

Still speaking during the session, Prince Okon attributed the recent ₦57 billion revenue milestone recorded by the Cross River State Government to increased public trust in governance, noting that such achievements are only possible when citizens have confidence in government and willingly comply with their tax obligations.

He also acknowledged the unwavering commitment of Governor Bassey Otu, stating that the Governor has consistently ensured that citizens benefit directly from ongoing tax reforms through the establishment of sound economic and institutional structures.

According to him, the Governor's people-centered approach has created an enabling environment where tax policies translate into tangible socio-economic benefits for residents of the State.

Prince Okon further revealed that Cross River State is making deliberate efforts to join other states that have implemented the Harmonized Taxes approved by the Joint Revenue Board (JRB), a move aimed at reducing multiple taxation, improving ease of doing business, and aligning the state's tax administration with national best practices.

The webinar featured seasoned tax experts and policy stakeholders, including Mr. Taiwo Oyedele, Chairman of the Presidential Fiscal Policy and Tax Reform Committee, and Mr. Segun Ade, Executive Secretary of the Joint Revenue Board. Both experts provided in-depth insights into the reforms, clarified common misconceptions, and explained the implications of the new tax framework for employees, entrepreneurs, and corporate organizations, while commending Cross River State for its leadership in tax reform advocacy.

Mr. Oyedele noted that the reforms favour low-income earners and small-scale business owners, highlighting tax relief measures such as Corporate Income Tax exemptions for businesses with annual turnover below ₦100 million.

Participants were also guided on the practical implications of the reforms on personal income tax, business operations, compliance requirements, and emerging opportunities under the new tax regime. These sessions were delivered by Dr. Patience Egwu, Head of Revenue Assurance, and Mr. Essien Ansa, Director of Personal Income Tax, both of CRIRS.

An interactive question-and-answer session further enhanced engagement, allowing participants to seek clarification on specific concerns.

CRIRS reaffirmed that sustained tax education remains a top priority, emphasizing that informed taxpayers are more likely to comply voluntarily. The Service noted that revenue generated through taxation is critical for funding social services, infrastructure development, and corporate social responsibility initiatives, particularly in underserved and rural communities, adding that the webinar is part of ongoing physical and virtual engagements to keep taxpayers well informed as the new tax reforms take effect.

PRESS STATEMENT

CLARIFICATION ON REGULATIONS FOR TAKING OF PHOTOGRAPHS AT THE CROSS RIVER STATE LIBRARY COMPLEX

The attention of the Government of Cross River State has been drawn to the unregulated and uncoordinated taking of photographs and making of Videos by users and visitors to the recently re-opened Cross River State Library Complex.

These unwholesome trends have continued to remain an issue of great concern to the Management of the Cross River State Library and the Government wishes to address them in the overall interest of the Public as follows:

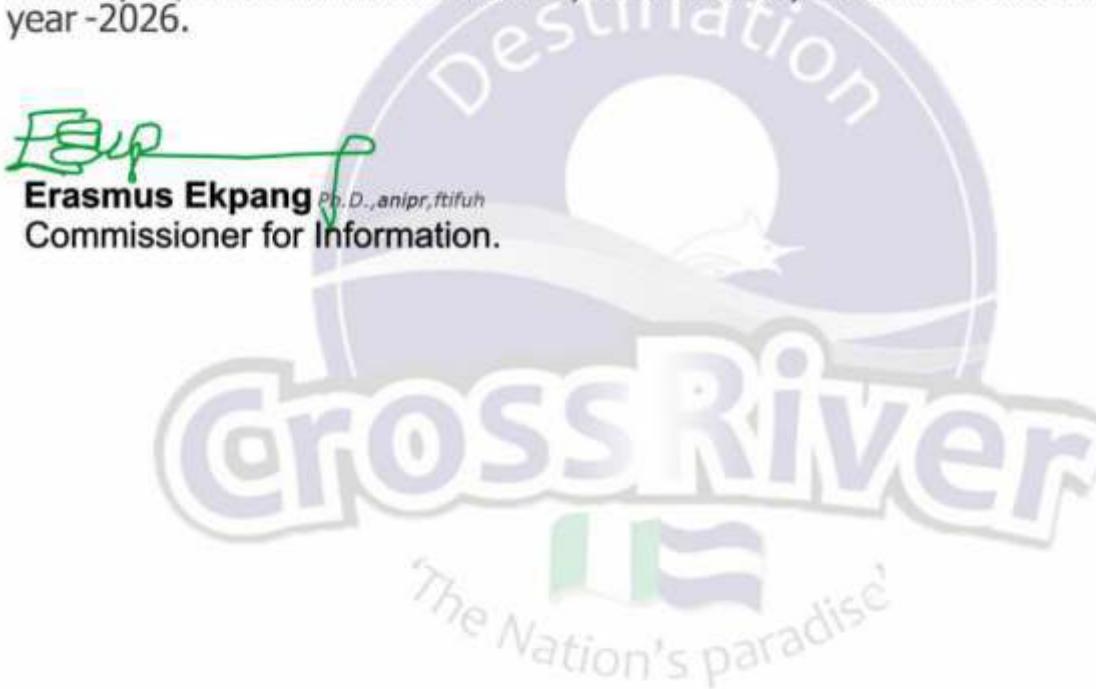

1. The Cross River State Library Complex remains a public institution owned by the Cross River State Government. It has not been sold, leased, or transferred to any individual or private entity.
2. Government wishes to however note that certain sections within the State Library Complex -such as the Café and Multi-Purpose areas; are managed spaces established to promote sustainability, orderliness, and the protection of public assets.
3. The already introduced guidelines regulating photography and videography within designated areas of the Library Complex were introduced solely to preserve a conducive learning and research environment for users. These measures were further intended to reduce overcrowding, limit noise and distractions as well as prevent the misuse or damage of Library facilities.
4. Government wishes to emphasize that as a public Library, maintaining quiet study conditions and safeguarding resources remains a core responsibility of Management of the Library.
5. Again, Government recognises the fact that unrestricted filming and photography can lead to congestion and disruption of services for other Library Users.
6. In the light of the above, all clients-group or Individual, MUST give prior notification and receive formal approval from the Library Management to guarantee seamless identification and Commercial Photography in the Complex.

7. Government further directs all clients and users to strictly adhere to the guidelines to correct all noticeable inconsistencies, enhance engagements and avoid congestion in the Library. They are also to note that these standardised guidelines are not intended to penalise Library Clients and Visitors but to make the Library more accessible, orderly, serene and beneficial to all members of the public.

Finally, Government sincerely appreciates the support so far and solicits for continued cooperation so that together with the Library Management, improved service delivery and transparency will be achieved in line with international best practices.

Thank you, as Government wishes you all a merry Christmas and a happy New year -2026.
